'Zero Hour Some Day This Week'

Axis' Call To Italians To Stand Firm

ALLIED MEDITERRANEAN INVASION BLUEPRINT NEEDS LITTLE CHANGE

LONDON, June 15.

Axis sources to-day are completely agreed that an invasion is at hand, says Reuter's military correspondent.

Indeed, the zero hour is indicated by them as being fixed for some day this week.

Italy, knowing herself to be in the fore-front of the Allied plans, is broadcasting appeals to all her citizens to stand firm.

INVASION WAITS ONLY ON ORDER

The events at Pantelleria and Lampedusa have demonstrated to the world that Allied preparations in North Africa are so far forward that an invasion waits only on order and not on other considerations. Whether Sicily and Sardinia have already been sufficiently softened or need further concentrated bombing is for Gen. Eisenhower to decide. Sicily though bigger than Pantelleria is not nearly so well fortified and its many airfields are equally exposed to attack. The Axis will not long be left in ignorance of Allied plans.

Berlin Call To French To Be Ready

LONDON: Axis tension in view of approaching invasion is daily tightening and Italians and French were turned to-day by their radio stations to be prepared, says Reuter.

The Frenchmen were told by a Berlin military spokesman over the Paris radio: "We are ready." The Italians too have been told by wireless to stand by for an Allied invasion.

Mussolini's paper "Pololo D'Italia" sums up the seriousness of the situation in the words "The fatal hour has arrived."

BLUE PRINT WORKS O. K.

From a special correspondent with the British forces on Pantelleria: The Allies' blue print for a Mediterranean invasion is not going to need any far-reaching alteration. It was tried at Pantelleria and worked beautifully. The island was the victim of an intricately planned invasion experiment built up out of fantastically complex details. Was the experiment completely successful? I consulted Admiral Pavesi, the Governor of the island, and General Maffei, the senior military officer, and it seems that if Allies had come two days earlier the Italians would have resisted but the last day's wholescale blitz broke their will. The island is theoretically a tougher proposition than the Allies may expect to find elsewhere. There is barely one and a half mile of beach on which to land, defended by over 120 coastal defence guns embedded in two feet thickness of concrete.

TOUGHER PROBLEM

It is a reasonable assumption that the coastlines of Italy, Sicily and Sardinia are on the average less heavily fortified by nature and man. Lampedusa has shown how a typical Italian garrison of a naturally artificially strong fortress will behave when invasion follows tremendous air attacks but elsewhere the Allies must allow for stronger air opposition, defences in greater depth and swift Axis reinforcements and omit from calculations any question of Axis supply difficulties and consider meeting German opposition. On the other hand there is a much greater choice of landing places. Pantelleria's real lessons concern details rather than principles. The real point of the bombing was not to destroy military morale but to render the island military unworkable. Already experts are analysing the shapeless rubble. They will calculate with mathematical accuracy the effect of blast on certain types of guns in certain mountings. They will work out as the mining engineer works out the size of the blasting charge—the precise amount of bombing which will sufficiently smash roads and communications and make the defences unserviceable. To make these calculations good needs unlimited air strength and utterly reliable accuracy. Pantelleria showed that the Allies have it, though it is important not to be too optimistic.

AXIS SHIP HIT

CAIRO: To-day's Middle East air communique states: "Long-range fighters of the R.A.F. attacked an enemy schooner in the Aegian Sea yesterday scoring many hits and leaving the vessel smoking amidships. From this and other operations all our aircraft returned safely".

4,000-POUNDERS ON MESSINA

Reuter's special correspondent at the Allied headquarters in North Africa wires: Four-thousand pound block-busters were dropped on Messina on Sunday night when R.A.F. Wellingtons carried air assault in the Mediterranean on Sicily. Pilots of the bombers saw at least two large fires raging in the town as a heavy load of incendiaries and explosives crashed into the target.

ANKARA DOES NOT KNOW WHY

NEW YORK: An Associated Press message from Ankara quoting a semi-official source says that Allied authorities will close the Syrian border with Turkey at 18-00 hours to-night.

Turkish authorities, it adds, declared that they did not know why the border was being closed or how long it would remain so.

"It Takes Awfully Long To Get Ready"

WASHINGTON, June 15.

The Navy Secretary Col. Knox at a Press Conference to-day said that the anti-submarine campaign was going along very satisfactory now, both as regards merchant sinkings and replacements.

Col. Knox continued that the sinking or damaging of sixteen Japanese ships by the United States submarines announced yesterday indicated the steady growth of submarine activity in the Pacific. The United States under sea fleet was receiving a small number of new submarines each month. Production was very satisfactory.

Commenting on the lull in the Pacific, the Navy Secretary said: It takes an awfully long time to get ready for any sizable movement."

Asked "Are we almost ready?" Col. Knox replied "You know better than to ask me that".

Col. Knox added that production of aircraft-carriers was going very well —"more than well".—Reuter.

Attlee Carries The Day

Labour Throws Out Amendment On 'Distrust Of Govt.'

LONDON, June 14.

At the Labour Party conference. There were speeches by delegates urging the conference to end the truce and thus give party members freedom to fight the socialist cause.

With Mr. Clement Attlee, the Deputy Prime Minister and Mr. Herbert Morrison. Home Secretary, as its spokesman, the Party Executive put up an uncompromising case that the breaking of the truce would mean the withdrawal of the Labour Ministers from the Government:

An important statement was made from the executive platform on the question of the Party's attitude to the continuation of the coalition after the war.

On a straight challenge from Lord Strabolgi, the Socialist Peer, whether the labour leaders were, as had been rumoured, arranging for continuance of the coalition, Mr. Attlee declared, "There is no truth in that."

Mr. Herbert Morrison in a powerful speech which was the highlight of the opening day's debate said that an essential part of victory would be the stablishment of "a world political authority" with teeth and claws and adequate armament with which not only to preserve the peace of the world and defeat any aggressor but to impose peace upon nations of the world by force if need be."

MINISTERIALISTS WIN

Mr. Arthur Greenwood, the newly elected treasurer of the Labour Party, spiritedly defended the actions of the Labour Party's three Ministers in the War Cabinet during a discussion on the Beveridge report at the Labour Conference in London today.

An amendment expressing "profound distrust of Government over its attitude to the Beveridge scheme" was defeated in a cad vote by 1,715,000 votes to 955,000. The Party National Executive's report on the subject was unanimously carried.

Mission To Moscow?

The pledge that a Labour Party Mission would be sent to Moscow at the earliest favourable moment was given to the party conference to-day by Prof. Harold Laski, a member of the Executive.

The Conference rejected a resolution seeking to commit the Mission to a proposal to hold a Congress at the end of the war for the founding of a new and United Workers' International. Prof Laski urged that freer the Executive's hands were, the greater would be the opportunity of reaching an agreement with the Soviet leaders.—Reuter.

'Sharp Defeat' For Germans

Reds Repulse Attacks To Recapture Four Localities

MOSCOW, June 15.

The Germans made desultory attempts to continue their attack in one sector west of Rostov yesterday morning following what the "Red Star" says amounted to a sharp defeat in the preceding two days' battle. The recent attempts by the Germans to improve their positions also failed and all has become calm again along the entire sector except for occasional shelling, wherein Soviet gunners got the upper hand. German planes are restricting themselves to day and night reconnaissance but the Soviet Air Force is actively strafing the enemy ground forces and has also conducted a successful raid on one railway station.

The Germans yesterday launched fresh attacks in an effort to recapture four inhabited places near Mzensk, the supplement to the midday Communique announces. Occupation of these four places was reported yesterday. Mzensk is a key town at the eastern tip of the Orel Bulge. In new bids to recapture the lost positions the Germans used infantry, tanks and bombers. All their attacks were repulsed involving them in heavy losses.

The supplement also reports minor activity from Moscow, Leningrad Bielgorod and Rostov fronts.—Reuter.

DE GAULLE KEEPS OFF

French Committee For National Liberation Meets

ALGIERS, June 15.

Gen. de Gaulle was absent when the French Committee for National Liberation met this morning. The meeting was attended by the six other members.

It is understood that the meeting which was the first since last Wednesday was informal and was devoted to attempting to solve the deadlock.—

WHY HE KEPT OFF

Reuter's special correspondent in Algiers cables: Gen. de Gaulle's reason for remaining away from today's meeting is believed to be that in his letter last week he declared that he would not attend the Committee's meeting until the military issue had been settled. It is believed that Gen. de Gaulle is anxious for a meeting of the full committee, which includes three men recently arrived from London.

CITY MARKETS

BOMBAY, Tuesday.

SHARES: The local Share Bazar was quietly steady today with very little business and prices hardly made any departure from the opening level. A market like the present one indicates that both buyers and sellers are satisfied and we expect the market now to move in either direction. Silent waters run deep and similarly the present action of the market points out preparations for a move. Thus one is required to be cautious. The general feeling is well divided. The currency expansion induces moderate support but in view of anti-inflationary move adopted by the Government, there are some operators who believe that prices cannot be pushed up now to new high levels. Outside participation has increased but any unfavourable development will have more effect as there is some accumulation of weak long interest. Tata Steel Dfds opened at Rs. 2037 and Ordinary Shares were quoted at Rs. 413. Bombay Dyeings were done at Rs. 1922. Century Mill shares were quoted at Rs. 811 and Kohinoors changed hands at Rs. 628. Tone was quiet with inter-Bazar trading.

Later on there was a slightly improved demand and prices moved up few points. Tata Steel Dfds were quoted Rs. 2046. Ordinary Rs. 414. Bombay Dyeings Rs. 1932 and Century Shares at Rs. 815.

During the last hour there was increased selling and ordinary shares declined to Rs. 410 but rallied to Rs. 413.

BULLION: The local bullion market was quietly steady with a moderate turnover. Forward business was restricted and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. Quotations were, ready gold Rs. 83/4, Jeth Rs. 82-12, Sovereigns Rs. 59. Ready silver Rs. 125-4 and Jeth Re. 123-8.

N. Y. COTTON MARKET

BOMBAY, June 15.

On Monday the New York cotton market opened steady but later prices declined on July liquidation, prior to the first notice day on June 25. There was hedge selling and trade demand was indifferent. Absence of aggressive mill demand also helped the decline. At the opening July was unchanged at 20.24 and improved to 20.26 but later declined to 20.17. The market finally closed at a net decline of 3 points. Spot cotton prices were reduced 6 points at 21.98c per lb.

"Obstructionist Policy" Impedes War Effort

SERVANTS OF INDIA SOCIETY DEMANDS RELEASE OF CONGRESS LEADERS TO FORM NATIONAL GOVT.

POONA, June 15.

At a meeting of the Council of the Servants of India Society yesterday, the following resolutions were passed:—

(1) The Council of the Servants of India Society views with grave concern the situation created by Government's refusal to permit Dr. Shyamaprasad Mookerjee and Mr. C. Rajagopalachari and the deputation of the Delhi Leaders' Conference to interview Mahatma Gandhi in prison with a view to securing a solution of the present political stalemate. The Secretary of State soon after the arrest of Congress Leaders promised in the House of Commons to change the Government's policy if the Congress recalled its resolution of 8th August 1942. This promise necessarily implies the grant of facilities to the incarcerated Congress leaders to meet for the purpose of taking counsel with each other and of consulting men belonging to other political parties. But the refusal of such facilities renders it impossible for the Congress to revise its policy collectively even though most members of that organisation may be so inclined.

The Council cannot too strongly condemn the obstructionist policy of Government which will not only intensify the discontent in the country and prevent the formation of a national Government but also seriously impede the war effort. Indeed the situation in respect of Law and Order has so greatly improved that the Council feels that Congress leaders can be set at liberty without any serious risk to public peace. It, therefore, urges that they should be released immediately and unconditionally.

HOLD GENERAL ELECTIONS

(2). The Council of the Servants of India Society condemns the attempts that are being made in certain Provinces governed under Section 93 of the Government of India Act to set up Ministries without parliamentary majorities. Such ministries can be set up only with the help of Governors and can function only in the absence of Congressmen in jail. The ministries in such Cabinets will be non-official advisers in disguise, as they will owe their positions not to any Parliamentary majority but to the support of the Government. The formation of such ministries will mislead international opinion and make it appear that genuine democratic Government is functioning in the Provinces. The proper way of ending Section 93 Rule is to hold general elections in the Provinces concerned and to set up ministries in accordance with the result of those elections.

(3) The Council of the Servants of India Society is of opinion that the present censorship regulations regarding news supplied to newspapers in the country and sent to foreign countries have travelled far from their purpose of withholding information useful to the enemy and preventing the publication of news and views likely to foment disorders. Such regulations are being misused for suppressing news and opinions unpalatable to Government and in this connection, the Council desires to draw pointed attention to a flagrant misuse of this regulation namely the order imposing censorship on the articles and speeches of Mr. Louis Fischer. In the articles and speeches of Mr. Louis Fischer published in the Press there is nothing to which objection can be taken on the ground that he was disseminating information useful to the enemy or expressing views which would undermine public order. His offence in the eyes of the censoring authorities appears to be that he was severely critical of Government's policy. The order imposing censorship on his articles shows the extent to which the censorship regulations are being misused.

The Council is therefore of the view that censorship regulations should be relaxed; there is no justification for the continuance of these regulations in their present form as the August disturbances which were the ostensible plea for their imposition have been brought under control and Law and Order firmly established.—A. P.

FUTURE OF PALESTINE

The whole of the Arab world is experiencing stirrings of anxiety regarding the future and of protest against the dangers that it feels, threaten it. Reuters has not thought fit to report anything of it, although millions in India—and not Muslims alone—are deeply concerned over the possible fate of the peoples in those neighbouring countries. It is an irony of our situation that while this imperial news agency inflicts on this country almost every day at least two or three items of absolutely no interest to the people, the latter should not get even a word of what, for instance, King Ibn Saud and Emir Abdullah of Transjordania have to say on the Arab problem. And yet they have said it. Thanks to the American United Press we now know that the various Arab countries, Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Transjordan, have been coming steadily closer together economically, culturally and politically, thus bringing the possibility of an Arab Federation nearer to the horizon. With this growth in solidarity has also grown in acuteness anxiety for Palestine.

So much is this the case that King Ibn Saud himself has, in a recent statement to the American magazine "Life", said, according to the U. P. that 'he considered the Jewish claims to Palestine "an error". He believed that Europe and America could provide more and better living space for Jews.'

This is a great event in the current history of the Middle East—and Reuters did not think it worth while!—because it is, perhaps, the first time that King Ibn Saud has made a public pronouncement, and, in categorical terms, too, on the subject. Nor is that all. Emir Abdullah has been no less "frank" and "forthright." In an interview with the United Press—not Reuters, of course—he agreed with King Ibn Saud's views adding the friendly advice: "I think the Jews would be well advised to return to the pre-mandated status and seek and enjoy the hospitality for which the Arabs are famed throughout history." They are rulers friendly to the British and the Allies and if they have spoken out it is because they see Palestine in grim peril after the war. Nor, of course, are they wrong. During the years of this war many an important United Nations leader has spoken words of cordial sympathy for Jewish plans to convert Palestine into a Jewish State. And the Zionists have been consistently at work both in America and Britain. It is a significant commentary on this work that, as the United Press reports, the words of the two Arab rulers have caused Jewry, annoyance, perturbation and nervous anxiety. They would desire Britain and America unreservedly to commit themselves to the Jewish and Zionist cause.

The danger is that they may, much more likely than not, succeed. So far as the problem of Palestine is concerned, the three great leaders of the United Nations are Mr. Churchill, General Smuts and President Roosevelt. The former two have a twenty-five year record of deliberate cynical murder of the cause and rights of the Arabs of Palestine. President Roosevelt, who has not yet had practical opportunities, has been no less hostile to the Arabs though more decently. These are the men who will decide, at the Peace Conference table, the fate of Palestine and, with it, of the Middle East. The prospect is tragically dark. And the irony of it is that the Muslim League, professing nationalism on the basis of Islam and claiming to speak on behalf of Indian Muslims, does not find it necessary to do more than pass one resolution—proposed from the chair—a year. If their profession is genuine do the League leaders realise that they owe a grave responsibility, indeed, to the people of Palestine? The answer must so far be no.

Post-War Economics

India's needs in her post-war economic reconstruction were generally indicated by Mr. G. L. Mehta, ex-President of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce, in his address to the Progressive Group on Monday. The war may end at any time and all too suddenly a sharp reaction may set in, with lakhs of our war workers thrown out of work and many industries losing their present assured markets. To prevent large-scale unemployment, to maintain the industrial progress made so far and to be better prepared for future wars, India will have to promote many peace-time and Defence industries. As Mr. Mehta has pointed out, one of the unforgettable lessons of the present war has been that "a nation possessing efficient and large-scale manufacturing enterprise can effectively resist aggression and defend itself." For various reasons, therefore, it is essential that India should be considerably industrialised and special attention should be given to certain key and defence industries, though these may not be remunerative.

The difficulties in the way of such a plan, however, are formidable. Little progress is possible without State support in the form of protection through high protective tariffs and otherwise. But this runs counter to the plans that are being hatched by Britain and America jointly and severally. The question then is whether the present Government of India, mere agents of the British Government, will do anything to help Indian industries. The natural fear is that they may not, that they may rather continue to use India for British imperialist needs in the name of international co-operation for peace and all that. That is why Indian businessmen have all along demanded a truly National Government at the Centre. If Britain continues to stand in the way, the reasons should be obvious. But if the Indian people including businessmen are determined and united it should still be possible to safeguard their interests.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

The Pope And Peace

In his address to Italian workers, which was, of course, intended for a much wider audience, His Holiness told the world of labour what in his opinion they should and should not do during these difficult days. But in that statement His Holiness made another statement which is rather remarkable as much for its subject matter as for the manner in which it was made. The Pope said that it was absurd to say that the Papacy had done nothing for peace and went on to assert that when circumstances permitted the publication of facts and documents "there will appear in more than midday light the stupidity of such accusation." Who made the accusation and why has His Holiness had to speak so strongly of it?

Cattle Slaughter

It is some relief to learn that the Government have at last issued instructions to the departments concerned that milch and working cattle should not be accepted for slaughter for the supply of beef to the army and that clauses to this effect are inserted in contracts for supply of meat. This is a very much belated order and even now we fear it may not be duly respected unless the authorities are very vigilant. For months past there have been reports of indiscriminate slaughter and export of cattle for food for the military. At the last general meeting of the Indian Merchants' Chamber, Bombay, held on 30th April Mr. Haridas Madhavdas, the President, complained that, though the Chamber had appealed to Government to supply statistics on this subject, it had failed to receive any. Government should publish the relevant figures at least hereafter to reassure the public that their own order against indiscriminate slaughter of cattle is being duly respected. If such slaughter continues it will be a serious handicap to Government's campaign to grow more food and will further reduce the quntity of milk available to the public.

Medical Conferences

If the Medical Congress held in the city on Saturday was really the first of its kind, as claimed by its organisers, it does not speak much for the city doctors' enthusiasm for research. But we believe the Congress was the first of its kind only in the sense that the previous Congresses like the Obstetrical and Gynaecological Congress held here about five years ago were not attended by prominent doctors from abroad. However, for the very reason that facilities for research or for the application of its results are better in this city than many others in India, more conferences may well be organised here. Medicine, like Science in general, is making rapid progress and there is real need for annual conferences of medical men to exchange notes and to enable the ordinary practitioners to get some of the up-to-date knowledge acquired by research scholars.

New Viceroy Must End Indian Deadlock

Lord Farringdon's Suggestion At India League Meeting

(From A Special Correspondent).

LONDON, June 15.

The India League held a meeting to-night to express grave concern at the political, social and economic conditions in India and to urge immediate steps to end the deadlock and to demand the release of political prisoners and the immediate opening of negotiations with a view to the establishment of a provisional National Government.

The speakers included Members of Parliament, Mr. Reginald Sorensen, Lord Farringdon, Mrs. Evelyn Walkden, Mr. John Parker, Mr. Krishna Menon and Mr. J. H. Potts. The large gathering included delegates attending the Labour Party Conference.

Lord Farringdon suspected that the Government did not intend doing anything. He suggested that the new Viceroy must go with a mandate to find a settlement. He said that Britain may have done a great deal for India, but India has paid back a thousand-fold. He condemned the emergency regulations and the living conditions of workers and emphatically declared: "As Socialists we must all be free and India must be free."

Mr. Sorensen said that the 'win the war first' cry was heard everywhere and it was equally important to win freedom for India.

Change Of Viceroy But No Change Of Policy

London political circles have been indulging in speculation with regard to the appointment of a new Viceroy of India. There is widespread belief among these circles that whatever may be the speculations in various quarters, the selection of Lord Linlithgow's successor will be made from the Cabinet.

Today's favourite runner is Mr. Oliver Lyttleton. The same circles are of opinion that despite the change of the Viceroy Whitehall's policy in regard to India is to be continued at least until the cessation of hostilities. The forthcoming Labour Conference is expected to give only its traditional lip service and gesture to the cause of Indian freedom.

CORONER QUESTIONS SUICIDE THEORY

Police Evidence In Burning Tragedy Inquest

An unusually large crowd of the fruit-sellers of Bombay was present at the Coroner's Court on Tuesday, when the adjourned inquest on the body of 16-year old Radhabai Tukaram was resumed.

Radhabai died on May 20, and in a previous hearing, it was alleged by some witnesses that her clothes had been set on fire and she was seen to have fallen down from the second floor on the foot-path below, in a mass of flames.

B. N. Dhoble, President, Fruit Merchants' Association Bombay, narrated that the father-in-law of the girl, Shankar Bhagat came to him after the incident and confessed to him that he had burnt the girl and thrown her out of the window. He got furious with him and scolded him saying "You wicked man, what a loathsome thing you have done."

Sakharam P. Chitle, a fruit-seller, who habitually slept on the foot-path on which the girl fell in flames, said that on May 20, about 4 in the morning, he was lying down on the foot-path, awake when he saw a burning mass coming down from the building of Shankar Bhagat. He did not go near the spot, but saw that a crowd was gathering.

Dattatreya Ramaji Bendke, Director of the Maharashtra Bank, said that at 4-30 in the morning, he was in the balcony of his house brushing his teeth, when he saw a flash as of something burning from the opposite window, (Shankar Bhagat's window) and the burning mass fell down on the foot-path. Next, he saw some people throwing water on the body. He could see two feet projecting from it. When the flames were extinguished, he heard shouts of "mother, mother".

Sub-Inspector Issak Ahmad Saiffuddin Khan of the Pydhownie Police Station said that on the receipt of information, he went to the hospital to which the girl had been taken. Though the girl was alive, she could not make any statement. Then he went to the spot.

Asked by the Coroner how he had come to the conclusion in the report he had submitted that the girl had set fire to herself and committed suicide, witness said that he had formed the conclusion from what he saw, as well as on the strength of the medical report which disclosed no injury. He was in charge of the investigations from the beginning, but due to certain allegations made by witnesses at a later stage against the girl's father-in-law, his superior, Deputy Inspector Hinkley had taken up the investigations himself.

Shankar Bhagat's second wife and his two sons said that at the time of the incident, they were asleep. The woman said that on that day, she had quarrelled with the deceased over the cooking.

The case is postponed to Friday, and the police, have so far, not arrested anybody.

Mr. J. A. Pinto appeared for the Crown, Mr. B. G. Fonseca for the deceased girl's father, and Mr. A. T. Janai for the deceased's father-in-law.

Indian Worker Proud To Be On "United Nations Team"

NEW YORK, June 14.

An Indian worker from Detroit was among the speakers presented on a special United Nations Day broadcast which was carried to listeners throughout America. The speakers, representing various United Nations described their countries' parts in the United Nations war effort.

"My name is Chaill Singh", the Indian worker said. "I was born in a little village in the part of India called the Punjab. I am a citizen of one of the United Nations. Today I am working in the great American city of Detroit. We are making war materials —tanks and planes to be sent to any part of the world where they are most needed to win this war. We Indians are craftsmen. We are tool makers. And we are proud of this work which we are doing. We are proud of our own country. We are proud of our Fourth Indian Division that fought with General Montgomery's Eighth Army.

"India today makes more than four million pairs of army boots each year. Indian iron and steel works are making armour for hundreds of armoured vehicles. India makes ten million military garments monthly, all for the United Nations.

"Speaking for 150 Indians from the machine shops and work benches of Detroit ,I, Chaill Singh from the Punjab, send you greetings. Fellow-workers of the United Nations, to belong to your team makes us happy."

"The Moon Is Down"!

A picture like "The Moon is Down" comes to India once a year. It is an excellent picture based on famous novel by Steinbeck America's top notch author. It is no propaganda, in the ordinary sense of the word. Steinbeck's warm sympathy for downtrodden people, wherever they are, is wonderfully mirrored in this picture. Whether one is a Norwegian, Czech, Chinese or Indian one is bound to feel identified with the characters in the film. I was glad to see the house full and the picture highly appreciated by the audience. But I am perplexed to see why such an excellent picture is being terminated within a week.

Large Fires In Ruhr Town

R. A. F. Raids On Western Germany: Three Nazi Planes Destroyed Over England

LONDON: An Air Ministry communique announces: "Last night our heavy bombers attacked targets in Western Ruhr particularly in Oberhausen. Large fires were seen but cloud made it difficult to observe the results full.

Mines were also laid in enemy waters.

Eighteen of our bombers are missing.

The German news agency states that Oberhausen was the R.A.F.'s main target last night. Oberhausen is one of the Ruhr's important steel and coal centres and has only twice been named in R.A.F. Communiques. But after the great raid on Duisburg on April 26 last a German Communique announced that bombs had also been dropped on Oberhausen. The town is also a vital centre of communications. It stands on the Rhine-Herne canal and at the junction of railways leading to Duisburg, Dortmund and Hamm.

Seven people were killed and others trapped in wrecked houses last night when a small number of German aircraft reached London area.

Other raiders crossed the coasts of East Anglia and south-east England dropping bombs at scattered points. They caused only slight damage.—

FIVE NAZI PLANES DESTROYED

It is announced that three Focke-wulf 1908 were destroyed and others damaged by Spitfires which made a before breakfast sweep over Fecamp area to-day.

R. A. F. intruder planes spent a busy night on Monday night over the Low Countries and France bombing and gunning barges, trains and airfield. The intruders destroyed two German aircraft over their bases.

NAZI RAIDERS KILL 584 CIVILIANS

LONDON:—Five hundred and eighty-four civilians were killed or are missing believed killed as the result of German air raids on the United Kingdom during May. During the same month 773 civilians were detained in hospital as the result of air raid injuries. The killed include 213 men, 266 women and 105 children aged under 16. The injured include 289 men, 343 women and 101 children under 16 years of age. These figures were announced to-day by the Ministry of Home Security.—Reuter.

R.I.N. Earns Honours

Thirty-five awards and twenty mentions in despatches—such is the proud record of the Royal Indian Navy in the war to date. The awards include one D. S. O., six D. S. Cs., six D. S. Ms., and ten I. D. S. Ms., all earned for acts of gallantry in engagements at sea. The exploits for which these decorations were awarded range from boarding a blazing Italian ship in order to round up the crew and remove explosive charges set for her scuttling, to tackling two Japanese raiders each several times the size of the ship concerned, sinking one raider and driving off the other. The actions concerned took place in widely separated parts of the Indian Ocean, from the Persian Gulf to the Sunda Straits, from Masawa to Batavia and Akyab, and away south in the middle of the Indian Ocean more than 1,000 miles from the nearest land. This in itself is proof of how the Royal Indian Navy helps the Royal Navy to act as "India's first line of defence", warding off direct attack on her shores.

THE OLDEST HOUSE OF WATCHMAKERS IN INDIA OFFER THESE HINTS ON WATCH WELFARE
Now, more than ever before, a good watch becomes a treasured possession. To insure service from your own timekeeper, follow these recommendations by India's oldest house of watchmakers.
★Children love to see "how it works"; but your watch is not a plaything. Don't curb healthy inquiry by your children, but see that they dissect something less costly than your watch.
★Make it a habit to carefully wipe with a soft cloth the outer cover of your watch each day. This action removes dust and perspiration; foils penetration into delicate works.
★Wind your watch at the same time every day. Do it regularly. Always check the accuracy of your watch by the same clock, and thus avoid constant adjustment.
★As you take yourself to your dentist or doctor for examination once in a while to insure maintained health, take your watch to a reputable watchmaker for cleaning and inspection at least once every year
★Accidents will happen. If your watch is damaged see that you give it for repair to watchmakers of proved reputation. Unskilled attention can ruin a watch.
★If you live beyond the reach of a reputable watchmaker remember that the repairs department of Favre-Leuba give the same high standard of service to by-post clients as is rendered to friends more conveniently situated.

The Half-Column
By "Dim"

In a class all by itself is the 20th Century Fox production "THE MOON IS DOWN" based on John Steinbeck's beautiful novel. It has been quite sometime since a picture so polished as this, so emotional without being sloppy, has come our way. Though slightly different from the book in parts, the picture retains the beauty of the novel. It is not only a story. It is PROPAGANDA PLUS. But it's so human, so well-told, so finished that you don't mind the message put across. In fact you like it. You are convinced by it. Perhaps the finest piece of acting is Sir Cedric Hardwick's portrayal of the Nazi Colonel. It's the type of restrained acting that makes a great impression. Some of our young actors, who believe they have histrionic talent, should model themselves on this veteran of the screen and the stage.

* * *

I saw an Indian picture a few days ago. I will not mention its name, because I don't want to harm anyone by belittling his effort. But I cannot help feeling that when in America and in Europe to-day pictures of the class of "The Moon is down" can be produced, we have no right to produce anything like the Indian picture I saw. I don't say that the Indian film industry has no future. It has a great future, but at the same time one must give vent to one's feelings that it has hardly a present to speak of. It lacks polish. It lacks direction. It lacks good solid material. These are points on which our producers should concentrate. It's all very well making an Indian picture that will attract a box-office, but what contribution does it make to the progress of the industry? What contribution does it make to the progress of the people?

* * *

Among our young writers there are a number of men of talent and promise. Some are even PROGRESSIVE I suppose—using that word in the ordinary sense of the word and not as an economic index, a sense in which it is also used. To these men I would say, turn your eyes to the Indian film industry. Therein lies a great future.

Our soap-chemists say this is because the lather is rich in 'live' soap, and that 'live' soap attacks dirt—fastens itself on to the dirt as soon as it touches it, and carries it away."

INSPECTOR WADE — THE DEATH WATCH — BY EDGAR WALLACE

WHAT YOU WANT?
DO AS I SAY OR I WILL STICK YOUR BODY WITH SHARP PAIN!
I HAVE KNOWLEDGE OF WITCHCRAFT--- BLACK MAGIC!
ME NOT BELIEVE.... YOU GET INSIDE!
UNNOTICED, WADE HOLDS A REDUCING MIRROR IN HIS CUPPED HANDS, REFLECTING THE CONDENSATED HEAT OF THE SUN AT THE NATIVE UNTIL OW! ME GOT PAIN IN ARM! YOU PUT SPELL ON ME!
YOU WILL DO AS I SAY!
IT WORKS--- I WONDER HOW LONG I CAN FOOL HIM?.....

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed Full of Vim and Vigour.
Your liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does'nt digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It take those famous Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red package. Refuse anything else.
